Value-based care is rapidly becoming the standard in the United States healthcare system. The shift away from fee-for-service payments to providers is intended to improve patient outcomes and reduce overall healthcare costs. “The Veradigm Network is paving the way for primary care physicians (PCP’s) to make this transition by partnering with Vytalize Health, a Medicare ACO,” said Tom Langan, President, and Chief Commercial Officer of Allscripts.

Vytalize Health provides value-based payments, clinical support, and data analysis to identify care gaps, and also coordinates end-to-end care management for partner PCPs. “The multidisciplinary clinical team at Vytalize serves as an extension of each physician to design custom-tailored care plans for each of their Medicare patients,” said Faris Ghawi, CEO and Co-Founder of Vytalize Health. “As a result, Medicare patients treated by Veradigm Network’s PCPs, through Vytalize Health, are poised to prevent and reduce hospitalizations while improving their quality of life.”

Veradigm is committed to helping independent practices improve health outcomes and lower patient costs. Vytalize creates personalized care plans that are customized to each patient, making the transition to value-based care seamless and effective. By partnering with Vytalize Health, the Veradigm Network is leading the way in value-based primary care.
